

A day out at Edgbaston Priory Tennis Club

Eight lucky pupils from Moat Farm Junior School recently won a competition to go and watch the Aegon classic tennis tournament at Edgbaston Priory Club. The children who were from years three to six, wrote a letter of application to Miss Cross (P.E. coordinator) explaining why they should win a ticket.

Miss Cross was very impressed by the standard of letter writing and choosing the winners was a very difficult task. She commented, "We had a super day, children not only watched professional tennis matches, but took part in a skills session. The highlight of the day was meeting Andy Murray's mum, Judy who taught the children some key skills in a small coaching session."
